

Dr. Cynthia Rembert James has been described as having "a transparent devoutness, coupled with a glaring scholarship." Dr. James seeks to model the absolute importance of Godly consecrated study and preparation. She incarnates the admonition of II Timothy 2:15 and is a gift to the Body of Christ fervently and rightly dividing the Word of Truth.

Pastor James is a Christian Psychologist who pastors two local congregations in Oakland, California and brings an intellectually sound yet fervent approach to ministry. She provides oversight for the credentialing, counseling, and pastoral care of approximately 140 pastors and ministers serving 60 Church of God congregations in the Northern California, Northern Nevada, and Hawaii district.

Dr. James has earned two Doctorate Degrees, one in Psychology from Rutgers University, and a second Doctorate of Ministry from United Theological Seminary in Dayton, Ohio. Additionally, she was awarded an honorary doctorate of Divinity from the Southern California School of Ministries. Dr. James has held numerous professorships in Psychology and served as the "Earl Lecturer" for the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, California. She has published numerous professional articles including "Finding A Placement That Fits" (Sept 2006) and the most recent book release is "Perseverance: The Power Beneath the Surface," a trilogy of sermons. In addition, Dr. James received 'The President's Volunteer Action Award' for community mobilization and conducted crusades in Finland, Sweden" Estonia, and Johannesburg, South Africa, as well as sponsored mission work in Lithuania.

Dr. James maintains an active schedule of preaching and conference training engagements but takes immeasurable delight in her family; Rev. Alvin James, her husband of 40 years, and their two sons and one daughter.
